

Conroy, Beverly

Bev Conroy is the Executive Director of Data Production with Gallup. During her tenure of over 25 years with Gallup she has operationally worked in roles related to survey research. Currently Bev has responsibility for the global management for the teams of pre-field instrument production including question management, testing, translation and programming for IVR, Internet and Outbound methods. She also is responsible for all post-field teams including verbatim coding and processing, data analysis and advanced reporting. She holds a Bachelors Degree in Strengths-Based Management from Bellevue University, NE (2006).